

Liliana Nitti

Geopolitical analyst and consultant specialized in transatlantic relations, with expertise in US politics and history, European affairs, and global governance. PhD work examined the interplay between US public policy, security strategy and international relations.

Work experience

[July 2025 – present] | Senior Research Fellow, Geopolitica.Info, Rome

- Analysis and scenario development on European affairs: analytical reports, weekly articles and event monitoring of the Euro-Atlantic area;
- Consulting and analysis focused on monitoring geopolitical and economic risks in the European area affecting investment strategies and national infrastructure projects. Supported the development of strategic scenarios assessing international security, economic autonomy and cooperation trends of the Euro-Atlantic region.

[Jan 2023– present] | Adjunct Lecturer & Junior Fellow, Centro Studi Americani, Rome

- Lectures of political science and international relations for young scholars attending the program "Alla Scoperta Dell'America".
- Cyclical round tables on international politics, economics, and sustainability with key corporate representatives that explore relations between Italy, Europe, and the United States.

[Nov 2022 – present] | Assistant Professor, RomaTre University, Rome

- Lectures of American history and politics for B.A. and M.A. students for the course "The US and the world in the 20th and 21st century".

[Nov 2025] | Assistant Professor, Centro Alti Studi per la Difesa - CASD, Rome

- Supported the delivery of the International Relations module within the 28th Joint Services Staff College Course - ISSMI at CASD, focusing on military and defense dynamics.
- Coordinated and mentored multinational working groups during the final exercise on International Organizations and NATO structures. Contributed to the design of military scenario development enhancing strategic thinking and interforce cooperation.

[May – August 2021] | Temporary Staff Contract, NATO Defense College, Rome

- Assisted the Academic Operations Division for the Senior Executive Regional Conference (SERC-10), supporting the organization and academic coordination of the event. Attended meetings with division heads and contributed to the preparation of lecture materials and agendas on international security and defense issues. Coordinated outreach activities in cooperation with embassies and institutional points of contact.

[February – April 2021] | Trainee in Academic Operation Division, NATO Defense College, Rome

- Assisted Faculty Advisors in Committees of the NATO Regional Cooperation Course (NRCC-25) drafting analytical reports, preparing lecture materials and briefings for the 10-week Strategic Level Course on international defense and security in the Middle East and the wider international community. Participated in consolidation discussions, and delivered presentations on NATO 2030 themes.

Education

[November 2021 – October 2025] | PhD in Political Science, RomaTre University, Rome

Curriculum: European and International Studies

Research project analyzing the correlation between US domestic polarization and its international role from the late 20th century.

October 2023 Temporary Visiting Researcher at Hoover Institution - Stanford University, USA.

[2018 - 2022] | M.A. in International Studies, RomaTre University, Rome

Final Grade: 110/110 cum laude

Focused on international politics, global governance and international economics. Included coursework and research in data analysis, policy evaluation and quantitative methods applied to international relations and security studies.

[June – August 2017] | Harvard Summer School, Harvard University, USA

Completed courses in International Business Law and Global Economics, focusing on the legal and economic frameworks shaping international trade, markets, and corporate strategy.

[2015 - 2018] | B.A. in PISE- Philosophy, International Studies and Economics, Ca' Foscari University, Venice

Final Grade: 110/110 cum laude

Interdisciplinary Program with specific modules on international relations, micro – and macroeconomics, and introductory data analysis for social sciences.

Academic and Institutional Engagements

- Round table “Transatlantic Relations in 2025”, Festival della diplomazia, 2025
- Moderator PhD Day, RomaTre University, 2025
- PhD Students’ Representative, Department Council - RomaTre University, 2021 - 2024
- Moderator of book presentation “Questa non è Nuova York”, Centro Studi Americani, 2024
- CSA Annual Literature Seminar, Centro Studi Americani, 2023
- CWAR - Cold War Archives Research Program, Wilson Center/Columbia University, USA, 2022
- CSA Annual Literature Seminar, Centro Studi Americani, 2022

Languages & Technical Skills

Languages: Italian (native), English (proficiency), Spanish (Intermediate), French (Beginner)

IT skills: Office Suite, Word-press, Google Drive, MacOS software, Canva

Data Analysis Software: Excel

References

Prof. Gabriele Natalizia, Geopolitica.info – Email: Gabriele.natalizia@uniroma1.it

Prof. Daniele Fiorentino, Roma Tre University – Email: Daniele.fiorentino@uniroma3.it

ROMA, 27.11.202

DOTT.SSA LILIANA NITTI

(firma autografa omessa ai sensi dell'art. 3 del d.lgs. 39/1993)